Chairman's statement

“The road from 2003 to today have not been an easy one to travel, but the role of HRH Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa in establishing the Tender Board and in promulgating the Tender Board Law has been our guiding light to success”

This year's annual report marks a major milestone for The Bahrain Tender Board and sees the culmination of a decade of operations. Our ongoing mission is to serve two main purposes - the first is to facilitate public sector purchasing in line with international best practices. The second is to stimulate the Kingdom's economy, making it an attractive climate for both local and foreign businesses by offering a transparent and equitable platform for fair competition.

Over the past 10 years we have done just that, as can be seen from the achievements and advances in the following pages.

The road from 2003 to today have not been an easy one to travel, but the role of HRH Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa in establishing the Tender Board and in promulgating the Tender Board Law has been our guiding light to success. The contributions of previous Chairmen and Board Members and the employees who worked tirelessly to ensure the Law was pushed through, cannot be underestimated. And we today acknowledge their tremendous contributions.

We are all aware that we are working in challenging economic times, and during our ten years of operation, Bahrain has of course seen the effects of the global financial crisis, dipping investor confidence in financial markets and a real estate downturn. However, for 2012 there is good news emanating from developing economies, of which Bahrain is one.

Our leadership's focus on continually improving the Kingdom's infrastructure, manufacturing capabilities and Government services means that the Tender Board's work and the projects it issues are continually going forward.

This year, a record number of 1,886 tenders were awarded, with a total value of almost BD 905 million, showing strong Government spending and continued investment in the Kingdom's economy. Public health was of course a priority, with the highest number of these tenders 349 issued from the Ministry of Health. In terms of value, the aviation sector continued to be significant with close to BD 191 million worth of tenders being awarded by Gulf Air. Overall, government investment in the industrial, infrastructure, housing and education sectors also continued to be high, demonstrating Bahrain's commitment to the highest standards. It is also worth mentioning that the actual cost of the awarded tenders during 2012 was less than the estimated cost of the same by a total amount of BD 49 million.

Internally, our relatively small team of 33 employees has worked hard to achieve some major milestones in 2012, including digitising our archive systems from 2008 onwards, and upon Tender Board's directives establishing a Development Committee, which is currently reviewing our policies and procedures to streamline them.

The actual cost of the awarded tenders during 2012 was less than the estimated cost of the same by a total amount of BD 49 million.

We also launched our new website, which now shows a live feed of all tenders so that bidders can receive up to the minute information on their submissions. We are also very proud of our open communication with the market, and this is demonstrated by our workshops, which we provide to suppliers and contractors with the assistance of Labour Fund (Tamkeen), to facilitate their bids by walking them through the eTendering process step by step.

In partnership with eGovernment Authority, we further enhanced our pioneering eTendering system, which facilitates the entire tendering process online, and we thank all government partners who have utilised this system, along with our suppliers and contractors. We also thank our partners at the Bahrain Centre for Excellence who provides a model for excellence to all Government organizations.

As a follow up on to the study conducted in 2010 by McKinsey & Company, during 2012 our operations were audited by Ernst & Young, which has given us a strong direction and strategy for the future to bring us even further in line with the international best practice. Consistent with the recommendations of this study, we hope to become more content-focused, to streamline procurement for more simple tenders, and further standardise procurement processes for commodity tenders.

Our future will be developing our platform even further –we never feel that we have reached as far as we can go – we will continue to push the boundaries to make ourselves a world class role model, in line with our vision. We have strategic goals in place for upcoming initiatives that will serve the people and economy of Bahrain, including eProcurement.

We are working with both the eGovernment Authority and Central Informatics Organization on this. We enjoy an excellent relationship with them and with all government organizations such as the Ministry of Finance, the Ministry of Works, the Electricity and Water Authority, Bahrain Petroleum Company (BAPCO), Labour Fund (Tamkeen) and National Oil and Gas Authority (NOGA). We very much appreciate their help and support, and the mutual cooperation. We have to make our tenders as transparent and professional as possible to reach our goal of leading the region in tendering practices.

Furthermore and on behalf of the Tender Board, I would like to extend our gratitude to His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa, The King of the Kingdom of Bahrain, His Royal Highness Prince Khalifa Bin Salman Al Khalifa The Prime Minister of the Kingdom of Bahrain and his Royal Highness Prince Salman bin Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa the Crown Prince, Deputy Supreme Commander of the Bahrain Defense Force and First Deputy Prime Minister, for their invaluable support, strategic guidance and visionary leadership.

In closing, I want to highlight again the dedication and professionalism of the small Tender Board team, led by its Secretary General Mr. Abdul Aziz Abbas Al Gassab. Without their hard work and relentless pursuit of excellence, none of the achievements of the past decade could have been realised.

Tenders Awarded

A record number of tenders were awarded in 2012, with an average of 463 tenders per quarter and a total of 1,886 tenders throughout the year. The majority of these tenders were issued by Ministry of Health, Bahrain Petroleum Company (BAPCO), Ministry of Works, Electricity & Water Authority and Gulf Air. The total value of awarded tenders was BD 905 Million. Comparing the actual cost of the awarded tenders with their initially estimated cost, the difference in 2012 was BD 49 Million. This amount represents a 83 percent increase from the difference recorded in 2003. Since the establishment of the Tender Board the total difference amounted to BD 658 Million. Such differences between the actual and the initially estimated costs are a testament to the effectiveness of the Tender Board in the Kingdom's economy.

Competitiveness and Economic Efficiency

Through its commitment to attracting suppliers and contractor and establishing a highly competitive platform, the Tender Board has enabled the government to increase the standards of products and services obtained while securing the most competitive prices in order for the government to achieve high level of economic efficiency.

Tenders Opened & Bids Received

The number of tenders opened in 2012 totaled 1,180 with a total estimated value of BD 739 Million, a slight increase from 2011, bringing the total of tenders opened since 2003 to 12,719 tenders. The cumulative number of bids received in 2012 also increased to 7034 compared to the total of bids received in 2011 – an average of 6 bids per tender, making an impressive total of 67,507 bids received since 2003.

Requests for Reconsiderations and Complaints

The Tender Board received 125 requests for reconsiderations and complaints, although the figure primarily consists of reconsiderations and enquires. These requests for reconsiderations and complaints are discussed at the Tender Board weekly meeting and determines whether the grievance is handled directly or referred to the authority concerned. In some cases, an ad hoc committee is formed and meets with the supplier or contractor director as well as with the purchasing authority concerned. The Tender Board takes the appropriate measures to adhere to the principals of fairness and the quality, following the provisions stipulated in the Law Regulating Government Tenders and Purchases.

Tender Board Meetings

In 2012 the Tender Board held 49 uninterrupted weekly meetings to review correspondence and procedures related to tenders and purchases in timely manner. At the weekly meeting Board Members determine what actions should be taken to ensure that sound decisions are reached in a fair and transparent manner. Tender Board members can now view any document via iPads during live sessions, and make comments electronically. Such comments can be shared between members of the Board.

eTendering System

Phase one of the eTendering system was launched during the last quarter of 2011 and it continues to be rolled out. A total of 8 purchasing Authorities were involved during the first phase. The first phase of the system enables purchasing authorities to upload their approved tender documents directly onto the purchasing authority portal and to publish it on the supplier portal. As for the suppliers and contractors, it enables them to access tender information online, download tender documents, and make their payments electronically through the ePayment Gateway. Government Authorities using the system during the first phase include Ministry of Works, Ministry of Housing, Gulf Air, Labour Fund (Tamkeen), Electricity and Water Authority, Bahrain Petroleum Company (BAPCO), eGovernment and Labour Market Regulatory Authority (LMRA).

eTendering is a major milestone, which facilitates the entire tendering process online allowing purchasing of documents, bid submission and follow up through the eTendering portal. An increasing number of Government Authorities are using the system each month, following training sessions being conducted with each authority. For the year 2012 we had a total number of 1415 as suppliers and the contractors who registered on the eTendering system. More than 23 Purchasing Authorities have now been trained on the system internally by our IT Section, while suppliers and contractors have been trained by the Labour Fund (Tamkeen).

Digital Archive

2012 saw the completion of a major project, the Document Management System, which is digitalisation of all Tender Board documents from 2008 onwards. The migration to digital has improved operational efficiency, speed up responses to Stakeholders and allowing access to any document through a central online secure database. Now in its second year, the Tender Board uses updated iPads and software to access the digital archives and the electronic documents. Due to the work being accomplished internally, the new archive system is estimated to have saved the government BD 100,000.

New Tender Management System

During 2012, the strategy for a new Tender Management System was completed, which is to be rolled out in 2013. The new integrated system will enhance time management and facilitate the internal processing of tendering operation, and it will provide more reporting capability from start to finish. The System is estimated to have increased financial savings by being managed and developed internally.

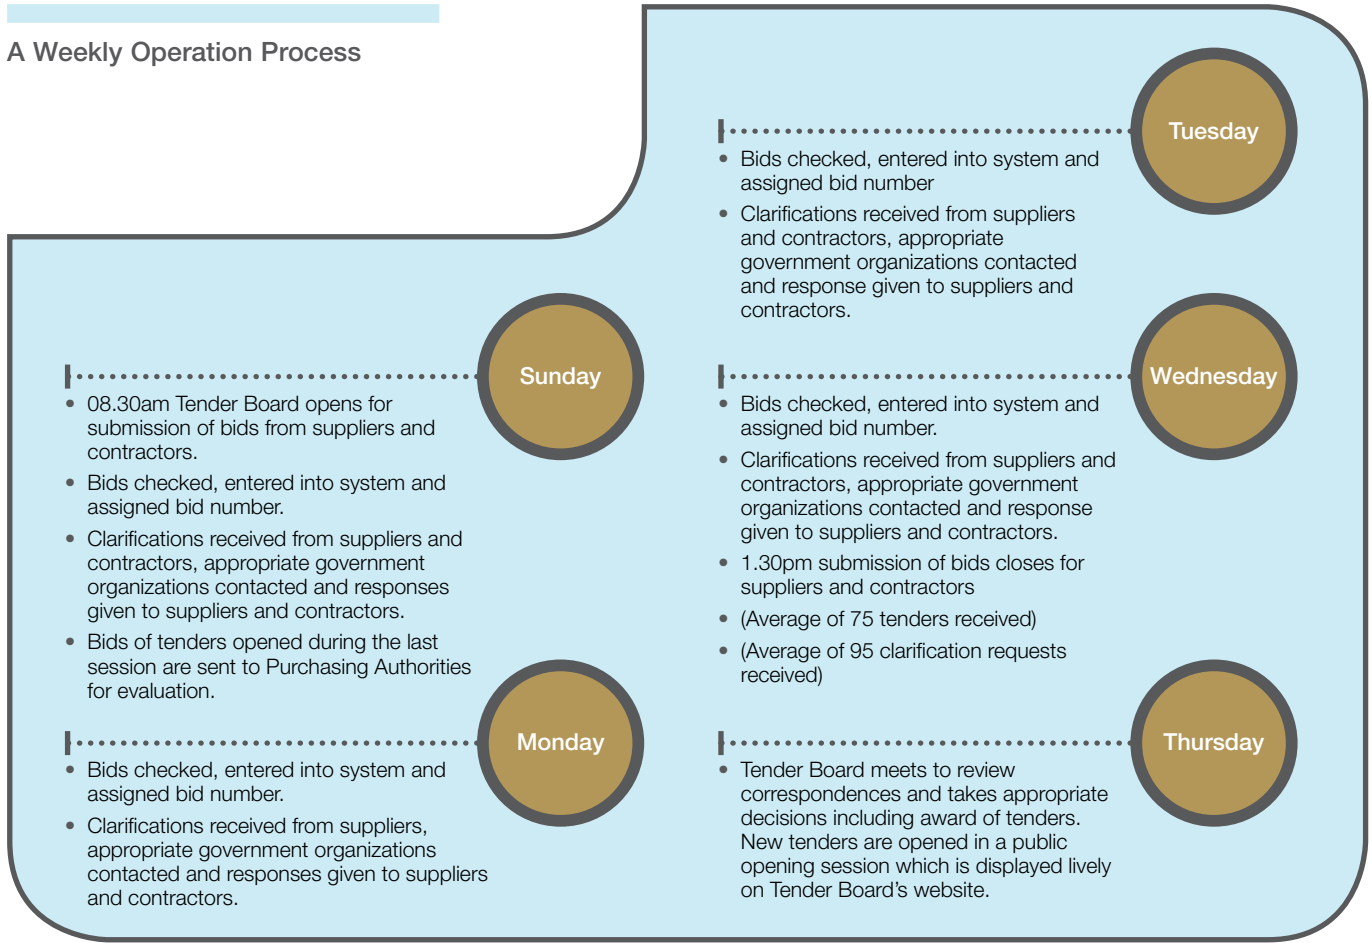

Organisation Effectiveness Study

As a follow up on the Organisation Effectiveness study completed by McKinsey & Company in 2010, Ernst & Young conducted a study, which has given clear themes for enhancing internal operations. The Tender Board will become more content focused when evaluating proposals, and will further streamline the procurement tendering process. In line with the study, the Tender Board reviewed its organization structure with a view to enhance employee benefits, in order to attract and retain highly qualified staff.

Quality Management System Upgrade

In 2012 the Tender Board continued its focus on operational efficiency and enhancement of procedures and performance. For the sixth year running, the Tender Board maintained its quality management system based on ISO 9001: 2008 accreditation, covering turnkey operations including tender preparation, bid submission, procurement, tender awarding, complaints handling and staff development. A Development Committee was also established to review all policies and procedures in order to enhance Tender Board's operational efficiency.

The Human Resources Section is proud to say that three of our team have obtained degrees, and many have completed training sessions to enhance their knowledge and skills. Also, some of our employees participated in different seminars and courses, including the Bahrain International eGovernment Forum, IRCA Approved ISMS Auditor Training, Foundation in Public Finance, Benefits and Pension Rights, Strategic Planning and Leadership. Focusing on training our staff and keeping satisfaction levels high has always been a target. During the year, several promotions also occurred from within the organization.

Seminar on Tendering Law and Procedures

The Tender Board held its second annual seminar to address Purchasing Authority inquiries. Representatives of Purchasing Authorities and representatives from the Tender Board attended this informative event and discussed several issues related to the tendering process, with a special emphasis on expediting the tendering process within the framework of the Tender Law, its Implementing Regulations and Tender Board decisions and circulars. The Tender Board received feedback from participants that this seminar was imperative in enhancing their knowledge of the tendering procedures, speeding up requests from the Purchasing Authorities, and further sessions have been requested. In another positive step the Technical Affairs Directorate for tenders has issued an informative booklet for the Purchasing Authorities, explaining the procedures and requirements for each stage of the tendering process. Copies of the booklet were distributed to the participants.
